March 2016 - May 2016

210 – 10th Avenue N.E.

Calgary, T2E 0W9

Pastor's Corner

Our ideas about Jesus span incredibly far. They range from Jesus being the good man, an ethical teacher, a moral role model (but not necessarily the Son of God), to the idea of Jesus being the divine, heaven-exalted Son of God, the Messiah, the Christ, the sovereign ruler of diseases, natural forces, and even over the devil and death.

On Good Friday in church we listen to a compilation of the four evangelists' presentations and experiences of Jesus' crucifixion and death. That way we get all the details: what John overlooked or omitted as less important, Matthew perhaps incorporated in his gospel; what Mark didn't discover or forgot, Luke maybe remembered. But what presentations and experiences would we have heard if we could have asked some of the other witnesses like Peter the denier of Christ, Jesus' mother Mary, Mary Magdalene, or the traitor Judas? Their presentations would probably be very different, reflecting their personal relationship with Jesus.

The disciple Judas—I wonder why he betrayed Jesus? Was he disappointed? Had he hoped for a rebel leader who could restore Israel's greatness? Did he kiss Jesus in the hope that in doing so facing the high priest and scribes he could convince them that Jesus really was the Messiah? Didn't Judas realize that it all would end in crucifixion? Is that why he ends up committing suicide? Because everything got out of his hands?

Mary, who had carried Jesus in her heart, and had been so worried about him since the words of the angel, the shepherds, Simeon and Anna. Now he hangs helpless and agonized on the cross and is dying. Is that what she feared would happen when she had her darkest thoughts?

The rock-like Peter who was oh so sure of himself! In vain, he tried to persuade Jesus not to go to Jerusalem, because the suffering Jesus foretold didn't at all correspond with the ideas of Jesus that Peter had formed for himself. Terribly ashamed of his own weakness, he now stands at a distance, watching. He had been the first among the disciples to confess: "You are the Christ," and Jesus had entrusted him the keys of heaven, but he had also been the first one to disown Jesus in order to save his own skin. Now it was all shattered expectations and crushed concepts.

Mary Magdalene—maybe she was the sinner who was to be stoned because she was caught in the act of adultery. She had been waiting for the first stone to hit her body, but Jesus had given her back her life. He had seen her as she was without condemnation but with a love she had never anticipated. Now he who had saved her from her death sentence by using words alone was dying on the cross. How would she have described the discrepancy between his powerful words and his powerless dying?

And finally, Jesus himself. What had he imagined? His prayer the last night in Gethsemane: "Father, if you are willing, take this cup from me; yet not my will, but yours be done." It was a sigh full of the deepest pain but also of a readiness to surrender his life into the hands of God. On the cross, utterly alone and abandoned by both God and man, Jesus shouted to the God whom he taught us to call "our Heavenly Father". By calling on God, while he was most godforsaken, Jesus insisted on God's presence!

The suffering human being, God on the cross, God of the godforsaken, and the compassionate God. Christianity is the only faith in the world, which not only knows of but also worships a God in the shape of a suffering human being hanging on a cross with the eerie feeling of hopelessness and desolation! That is why Christianity is not just about either the human Jesus or a divine Christ. There is a third notion, which is wedged between these two notions. Christianity is about the desperate Jesus fighting in Gethsemane to maintain faith in the midst of his desolation and pain. Christianity is about Jesus who by dying is becoming Christ by tearing the veil of the inner sanctum of the temple and giving humanity free access to God's innermost and holiest nature. This truth God confirmed by raising Jesus, his son, from the dead.

Christianity is about Jesus sharing human life with us even when it hurts the most. As Christians we therefore can't imagine a God who can't or won't stay with us if everything around us or in us crashes into pieces. Fear, pain, desolation and death might not be terms we connect to our ideas of what a God should be like, but imagine if God wasn't far more than our of human conception of God! I believe that in describing God there is no end to the conceptions we may have to use. Each of them is giving us a tiny glimpse of God—none of them can be dispensed with, and none of them can stand alone. However, these fleeting glimpses are meant to strengthen us when facing life at its hardest and most painful conditions and to encourage us to surrender our lives into the hands of God. We can walk in the confidence that he has gone before us so that not even in death we are without God.

Looking Back

Mission Moments

Lutheran Hospital Ministries is a group of mostly volunteers that bring Jesus' healing, whether spiritual or emotional, to patients in hospital or in long term care centres. As our city has grown and our population ages there are more people to visit at more sites. Volunteers are needed and full training is provided. In the past, two members of our Church have been volunteers with LHM: Gurli Christophersen and Liselotte Basboll. And every spring there is a 5 km fundraising walk/run in Confederation Park to support LHM. In the past 5 years, our congregation has made up the largest group of participants in this walk. This year's walk is on Saturday, April 30th starting 9:30 a.m. at Faith Lutheran Church. You can join us on the walk, sponsor someone who will be doing the walk, or even become a volunteer visitor. Requests to have someone visited or to make a donation directly are also welcome. For more information contact: lhmsac@gmail.com. Phone: 403 264-4045.

Newsletter Partially Transitioning to Digital

As we all know, printing and postage is expensive, so in order to keep costs in check we encourage those of you who like getting your news via the internet to contact the office and let us know if you would prefer to receive the newsletter digitally. The newsletter is posted on the church website www.danishlutheranchurch.ca. If you still prefer the old fashioned way, and like to hold a hardcopy in hand, no problem, we will mail it to you as per usual. Website or by mail, a donation to help offset the cost would be welcome. Please use the envelope enclosed. For donations of $25.00 or more, a tax receipt will be issued at the end of 2016.
